Maryland Senate Passes Bill Prohibiting Fireworks

28 to 1 Vote for Safety Measure Ends Long Fight in Legislature

State-Wide Bill To Outlaw Sunday Sales of Liquor Returned to Committee by Vote of 22 to 6

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 22 (AP)—The Maryland Senate early today passed a budget bill appropriating approximately $107,244,000 for the operation of the state government for 1942-43.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 21 (AP)—Concentration on clearing its files for sine die adjournment, Maryland's general assembly today passed prohibitory fireworks legislation and moved to defeat "Sunday prohibition" and Court of Appeals reorganization bills.

By a 28 to 1 vote, the Senate approved and sent to Governor O'Connor for signing the state administration's anti-fireworks measure, similar to one defeated by a one-vote margin in the upper chamber last session, Senator Cecil C. Squier (D-Cecil) cast the dissenting vote.

Earlier, senators voted 22 to 6 to recommit the state-wide bill to outlaw Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages to the Judicial Proceedings committee, a move which an administration spokesman said spelled doom for the proposal.

Sponsors, however, said if necessary they would petition the legislature out of committee, declaring that several amendments were being drawn.

Adoption of a favorable report on an opposition court bill forestalled defeat of the state administration's proposal to reorganize the court of appeals. The vote was 15 to 13.

Amendments Rejected

The fireworks bill was passed after amendments proposed by senators Squier and Humphrey Wolfe (D-Howard) were rejected.

Squier, whose regulatory fireworks legislation was killed recently, said his amendments would "modify drastic features" of the administration's proposal.

Wolfe attempted to postpone the effective date of the prohibitory measure until September 1, 1941, to permit fireworks companies to dispose of their stock this July Fourth.

Senator James Lindsay (D-Balto county), when Wolfe asked for a recess so he could properly prepare his amendment, said the legislature had wasted too much time already in passing prohibitory legislation. Wolfe, sparring for time while his amendment was being drawn began reading a letter. The majority of the senators walked out of the chamber. They were summoned back by a roll call.

Meanwhile, Governor O'Connor's monthly budget for 1942-43 was ready to be moved a step closer toward final enactment. A favorable report with amendments on the appropriations bill must be approved before it can be placed on the Senate final passage calendar.

Proposed amendments would pare the budget from $107,443,000 to approximately $107,000,000. The Senate (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Two More British Ships in a Convoy Sunk, Berlin Says

Third Vessel Also Probably Included, Nazis Assert

BERLIN, March 21 (AP)—The German air force reported tonight the destruction of two British ships including a tanker, and probably a third, in a strongly-guarded British convoy plying the route of reinforcement to Greece.

In the attack off the island of Crete, the report said a tanker of 10,000 to 12,000 tons was hit directly and set fiercely ablaze. A freighter of about 8,000 tons was blasted in two and left in "a sinking condition," and another freighter of about 6,000 tons was seen to be listing amid clouds of smoke.

The Mediterranean attack was reported on the heels of a high command claim that 69,000 tons of merchant shipping has been sunk by submarines in an attack on a British convoy off the west coast of Africa.

At the same time Axis quarters connected the forthcoming visit of Japan Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka with prospective moves in "Blitz diplomacy."

Senate Sub-Committee Approves $7,000,000,000 for British Aid

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—The proposed $7,000,000,000 appropriation for the British aid program won unanimous approval of a Senate Appropriations sub-committee today with even Senator Nye (R-ND), one of Senate's severest critics of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, voting for it.

Nye, in fact, was one of three members of the sub-committee who had voted against the Lease-Lend bill, but today cast a ballot for the record-breaking appropriation which is intended to implement it. The others were Senators Holman (R-Ore) and Brooks (R-Ill.).

Joe Forced To Extend Himself To Defeat Abe by Technical Knockout; Fight Is Surprise

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs announced tonight, shortly after Joe Louis had stopped Abe Simon in thirteen rounds at Olympia, that the two would be rematched in a fifteen-round heavy-weight title fight in Madison Square Garden, New York, on May 16.

By SID FEDER

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—The impossible didn't quite happen tonight but it came close enough to throw a substantial scare into Joe Louis and his fistful family before the bomber was able to do his work.

With just a while-sized heart and a dazzling left hand, the New York giant, Abe Simon—the big target who wasn't supposed to have one—threw a million of lasting more than three rounds—gave Louis a "helluva" fight of it for twelve full heats before running afoul of the bomber's big guns in the thirteenth.

With the greatest indoor crowd in Detroit's history jamming the Olympia and gasping in amazement at Simon's sensational showing, Abe gave just about as good as he received until the thirteenth. Then, floored twice by heavy-duty right hand shells, he got up and staggered helplessly into the ropes near his own corner. There, referee Sam Hennessey rushed in and halted the bout, with Louis a tired technical knockout winner at one minute, twenty seconds of the thirteenth.

3,000 Turned Away

A total of 18,908 fans bulged this big arena at the seams and hung from the rafters to see the home-tanned champion, and promoter Mike Jacobs said some 3,000, who couldn't even crowd into the packed stand—

Pope Plans Quiet Easter Mass in Private Chapel

War Conditions Cause Change from Usual Elaborate Ceremony

VATICAN CITY, March 21 (AP)—The Pope is expected to substitute a quiet Easter Mass in his private chapel for the usual elaborate ceremony in St. Peter's.

Although his Holiness' definite plans have not been announced, usually reliable sources said that because of war conditions he had cancelled the usual mass and the blessing of the throngs from the balcony.

It was the first time in nine years that the Easter ceremonies have been cancelled. And the second time that the recent war has curtailed a major church festival. Last Christmas eve, the Mass was shifted to daylight hours because of the blackout.

The Italian government has forbidden the manufacture and sale of various Easter cakes normally consumed in large quantities during the season. All stocks in panettone, one such cake, have been ordered turned over to the army.

Restrictions on Sunday travel were given as one of the principal reasons for cancellation of the Vatican's customary Easter service.

The Pope had been expected to deliver an Easter Homily on war and peace, as he did a year ago, but prelates indicated this too would be omitted.

Unfair Practices Charged to Ford By Labor Board

Complaint Issued in Detroit Soon after Dewey Announces Progress

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—On the heels of a federal mediator's report of progress in efforts to make peace between the Ford Motor Company and the CIO's United Auto Workers, the regional office of the National Labor Relations Board late today issued a complaint of unfair labor practices against the company.

The formal complaint, embodying charges of the CIO's auto union, covers alleged company anti-union actions from 1935 to the present time and accuses the company of having operated "an extensive espionage system" among employees and maintaining "gangs of strong-arm men" to intimidate workers.

Frank H. Bowen, board regional director in Detroit, announced a hearing on the complaint before a board trial examiner would be conducted April 14. The complaint, Bowen said, was served on the company this afternoon. It was the ninth labor board complaint issued against the company for alleged anti-union activities in its plants throughout the country.

Definite Progress Reported

Earlier today, James F. Dewey, federal labor conciliator, said definite progress had been made in connection with union demands on Ford which recently were followed by a threat of strike.

The new complaint against Ford alleges that the company "did cause and procure the surveillance of union meeting places and did spy upon and engage employees and others to spy upon union meetings."

The company, it said, further also "did cause and permit to be organized gangs of 'strong-arm men,' 'muscle men' and 'jeeps,' boxers,"

Roosevelt Announces Multi-Million Dollar St. Lawrence Project

Opposition in Congress Develops Quickly, but Early Passage Seems Assured

By J. C. STARK

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—A giant multi-million dollar project to harness the St. Lawrence river as a great power producer and provide a deep sea traffic link between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic was laid before Congress by President Roosevelt today.

Presented as a Canadian-American agreement rather than a treaty such as that which the Senate failed to ratify in 1934 by the necessary two-thirds vote, the proposal requires approval by Congress and the Canadian Parliament.

Although opposition developed quickly to the long-projected development now advocated as a vital hemisphere defense measure, administration officials predicted it would easily receive the required majority approval of each House in Congress.

President Roosevelt merely transmitted the text of the new agreement with Canada to congress today for its "information" with a brief accompanying message stating that he would "request introduction, in due course, of legislation designed to make this agreement effective."

This was expected to be in the form of an authorizing concurrent resolution and a bill to appropriate the necessary funds.

Serb Soldiers Parade to Tunes of American and French Martial Music

Prince Paul Fails in Efforts To Form Pro-Axis Cabinet and Great Indignation Exists in German Circles; Signing of Agreement in Vienna Delayed as Discontent Spreads

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, March 22 (AP) (Saturday)—Mobilized Serb soldiers singing American and French World war songs paraded in the provinces last night while Yugoslav government heads vainly sought to solve a crisis arising from an attempt to put this Versailles treaty-built nation in the Axis fold.

Regent Prince Paul and his premier, alive to the dangers of serious internal disorders, still were unsuccessful early today in their attempt to form quickly a completely pro-Axis cabinet that would approve the plan of modified alliance with the Axis. The Serb peasant party leaders bitterly oppose the plan.

Here in the capital anti-Axis students met near the Royal Palace and played "Tipperary," the famous British marching song of twenty-five years ago.

SIGNING OF PACT DELAYED

The uproar caused by grapevine-leakage of the government's intention, which was opposed vigorously by three resigning cabinet ministers, forced Premier Dragic Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksandar Cincar-Markovic to delay their scheduled departure today for Vienna where they had planned to sign an agreement with the Axis Sunday.

This hitch caused great indignation in German circles. The army rank and file, too, was angry.

STICK TO RESIGNATIONS

Prince Paul, head of the Yugoslav regency, ordered the ministers to withdraw their resignations, but they firmly refused, and Paul tonight reluctantly accepted their withdrawal from the government.

He instructed Cvetkovic and Vice-Premier Vladimir Macek to try to fill the three vacancies quickly with compliant ministers. These two went into conferences late tonight in hope of cutting as short as possible a crisis which might rip Yugoslavia at its racial seams.

Two Day Delay Likely

Government circles said even at best there might be a two-day delay in forming a cabinet because one of the retiring members, Dr. Srdjan Budisavljevic, minister of social welfare, could be replaced only by another Serb from Croatia.

A fourth Serb member of the cabinet was said to be preparing to resign. He and the three who quit were the only members of the seventeen-man cabinet who voted against the Axis Alliance program.

This program was said reliably to call for full Axis membership except that troops to attack Greece would not cross Yugoslavia and that this country's territory would be respected by all Axis signers.

Discontent Growing

The news, trickling out into the country via grapevine, enhanced the growing discontent, particularly among the Serbs who constitute one-third of the population of 15,000,000.

Settlement Seems Near in Strike of Harvill Aircraft Co. Workers

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—Washington. Other conferees were President H. L. Harvill of the struck plant, Edward T. Cheyfitz, international secretary-treasurer of the union, and Paul Shoup, former president of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Shoup, now head of the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers Association, was asked to serve as an employer consultant by Sidney Hillman, joint director of OPM.

Eight Pacific coast plane factories are dependent upon Harvill castings for U. S. and British government production. Executives of six of the firms reported they were threatened with shutdown unless the strike agreement, who flew here today from Los Angeles, was signed quickly.

Italian Cabinet Minister Reported Killed in Action

Roberto Farinacci, Close Associate of Mussolini, Is Victim of Sniper in Albania Fighting

(By The Associated Press)
BETOLD, Yugoslavia (At the Albanian Frontier)—Roberto Farinacci, one of the eleven cabinet members of the Italian government, was reported today to have been killed in action in the fighting in Albania. Farinacci was said to have been killed by a sniper's bullet in the fighting in Albania. He was reported to have been killed in action in the fighting in Albania. He was reported to have been killed in action in the fighting in Albania.

The reports said his body was not recovered, despite the efforts of his men to do so.

Former Fascist Secretary
A former secretary of the Fascist party and a member of the Fascist grand council, Farinacci was reported to be one of Mussolini's four closest collaborators.

Farinacci long ago had established a reputation as a duelist and a firebrand. He was one of Mussolini's fighting politicians who went to Ethiopia. There he lost his right hand in a grenade explosion.

Anti-clerical and anti-semitic, Farinacci led all the Italian press in denunciation of the Jews in his extremist newspaper Il Regime Fascista at Genoa in the days before the war.

Farinacci had been at the front since about Jan. 25 when it was announced in Rome that he was taking up active military service.

Recent Greek reports, said to have been derived from talks with Italian prisoners, have told of the capture, death or injury of six high Fascist personalities in the major offensive which the Italians undertook on the Tepeleni front nearly two weeks ago reportedly under the eye of Premier Mussolini himself.

Rome Issues Denial
The Greeks said two of the killed or wounded were Minister of Education Giuseppe Bottai and Undersecretary of Corporations Tullio Ciletti, but authoritative sources in Rome issued a denial.

Eight other cabinet ministers and high officials have been sent to take an active part in the fighting by Mussolini, including his own son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, who finds time however to appear at an occasional formal function in connection with his duties as foreign minister.

The last to be sent to the front was Count Dino Grandi, minister of justice and former ambassador to London.

Five Year Sentence Is Given Methvin

SALISBURY, Md., March 21 (AP)—Chief Judge Benjamin A. Johnson in circuit court today imposed a sentence of five years in the Maryland penitentiary on William L. Methvin, of Westover, who was found guilty of subornation of perjury on charges growing out of a $10,000 automobile accident damage suit.

William H. Ross, 47-year-old garage man from New Church, Va., convicted of giving false testimony in the suit, also received a five-year sentence, while Howard W. Lundgren, Griffield truck driver, also convicted for perjury, was given two and a half years. Lundgren testified for the state.

Ross was convicted of testifying falsely in a suit brought last fall by Methvin against the Stevens Ice Cream Company.

Methvin's son, Charles, was killed in an accident between his car and one of the company's trucks.

Lundgren testified that Methvin paid him $25 for false testimony which he gave in the damage suit.

in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence river at an estimated cost of $26,170,000.

The United States agreed to pay the bulk of this to counterbalance the $130,000,000 already spent by Canada in building the Welland canal and linking Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

Engineers estimated the work in the International Rapids section could be completed by 1945. President Roosevelt said this might be in time to "prove of vital importance to our defense effort" in opening a sea outlet for cargo and naval vessels built in the Great Lakes area.

Broader plan for the seaway development—a twenty-seven-foot deep channel for ocean-going vessels stretching from Lake Superior to Montreal and the Atlantic—will take much longer.

The two governments agreed, subject to a possible change to meet war or defense conditions, to complete this portion by December 31, 1948.

Details of the work contemplated in building the long, deep seaway were not disclosed, except for the International Rapids link.

Officials estimated privately, however, that the cost of completing the entire project, including money already spent by Canada on the Welland canal and by both governments on various other connected works, would be about $540,000,000.

New York state was expected to contribute about $90,000,000 for the power benefits it will receive.

Plymouth Makes Quick Comeback

Returns to Near Normal and Prepares for Another Blasting

(By The Associated Press)

PLYMOUTH, Eng., March 21.—Bucked up by tireless little Lady Astor, Plymouth piled high the sandbags and manned the stirrups tonight, prepared for another test of flame and blast such as it endured last night at the hands of the Luftwaffe.

Many sections of this normally immaculate southwestern port, the first glimpse of England for many American warfayers, were without heat and water as a result of the fierce raid which set fires officially described as serious and cost the lives of uncounted men, women and children.

The Virginia-born Nancy Astor, who has sat in Commons for the Sutton division of Plymouth since 1919, directed fire-fighters at her Plymouth home through the raid; then took over the mayor's post in the absence of her husband, Lord Astor, ill of influenza.

Today Lady Astor toured every rest center in the city, among them Virginia house, which accommodates 500 homeless persons and which she and her husband established.

Eye-witnesses who have seen the condition of other English cities after such raids as that of Thursday night said Plymouth, a city of some 210,000, already had made an amazing return to near-normal.

Plymouth had taken a lesson from Portsmouth, Southampton and other coastal cities previously blitzed, and was well-prepared. Alert fire-fighters prevented the spread of many fires.

All the homeless were cared for in the rest centers.

The Germans struck last night only a few hours after King George VI and Queen Elizabeth left Plymouth following a tour of inspection, during which the king was pipped aboard a former American destroyer at the Devonport naval base.

Thousands of incendiaries were followed by showers of high explosives. At least 100 planes, flying in waves of six, were reported to have been over the city.

Victory This Year Von Ribbentrop Says

MUNICH, Germany, March 21 (AP)—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop at a reception to Dr. Laszlo De Bardsosy, Hungarian foreign minister, tonight repeated German assertions that the Reich will win a complete victory this year.

"We are convinced the year 1940 brought a decision in favor of Germany and her ally," Ribbentrop said. "The year 1941 will bring conclusive evidence of this, and developments of this year will force our opponent to admit his defeat."

He was accompanied by a delegation of German officials, including the German ambassador to London, Dr. Otto Dietrich.

The measure advanced today would give Baltimore city an additional judge, bringing the total number of Appellate judges to nine.

Senator Emanuel Gorfine (D-Balto) moved to make the opposition bill a special order for Monday so that the Senate could consider the administration bill with it at the same time. His motion lost, 17 to 12.

The administration proposal would reduce the court to six judges, two from Baltimore city and four from the counties. In addition to providing for an additional judge from Baltimore the bill states the court would hear only Appellate cases.

Gorfine said he was not opposed to Baltimore city having additional representation on the Appellate bench but added the administration proposal was the way to do it.

Senator Stuart Bushong (D-Washington) called the opposition measure an attempt to pull the spurs of the other (administration) bill before it ever gets to the floor.

Senate Recalls Bill
The Senate recalled from the House a bill it had passed earlier to permit contractors to use penal labor on state roads work. The recall move was made by Senator George Della (D-Sixth Baltimore) who declared the bill would mean "a return to the days of slavery."

He said he wanted to make an amendment.

Among twelve new bills brought into the Senate were measures for a $10,000,000 state roads bond issue, creation of a State Labor Relations Board, and a proposal for tightening the corrupt practices act.

The bond issue would be used to refund $4,970,000 in existing roads commission refunding bonds, and to allot $4,000,000 to supplement federal funds for building and improving highways and bridges "in connection with national defense."

The balance would be used for projects related to the state highway system.

But, although he locked his world heavyweight championship in the safe successfully for the fifteenth time, the great Louis was slightly less than a ball of fire. After it was over, the "experts" agreed he was mighty lucky not to have had to face the speed and left hand of a Billy Conn tonight.

He finished up with a "mouse" under his left eye and the optic half closed, and he left the definite impression behind that he is no longer at his peak, although at 202 pounds tonight his handlers insisted he was "in the pink."

Simon, weighing 254½, the biggest man the Bomber has had to face as champion, was as agile as a welterweight, circling Joe and jabbing with his left hand. If he had any kind of a right hand wallop, there might have been a different ending.

Floored Abe Four Times
Altogether, Louis floored Abe four times during the thirteen rounds this scheduled 20-rounder lasted. In the first round Joe whistled a right off Abe's "whiskers," that dropped him near a neutral corner. He was up without a count. In the third, another of the same sat Abe down in another corner, and he stayed down grinning until the referee reached nine.

Then, although Abe was hurt three times afterward, he didn't go down until the thirteenth. For several rounds Joe had been stalking the mountainous Manhattanite, obviously holding his fire until he had an open shot.

He got it in the thirteenth. A smashing right dropped Abe near his own corner for nine. He got up as Joe rushed in sensing the kill. Three more rights dropped Abe in almost the identical spot, and again he took nine before climbing to his feet. Joe raced across the ring once more, but this time "our Abe," as Manager Jimmy Johnston calls his gladiator, was helpless and through. He staggered blindly into the ropes and it was all over.

In his dressing room, afterward, Abe broke down and sobbed because "I didn't quite have it." But one and all, including his brother, who came in for the fight, told him "Mom and Pop and everybody are proud of you."

Louis admitted large Abe in general, and large Abe's left in particular, were "pesky," but that he "was never worried." "Yeah," he added, "but Ahm glad ah didn't have that Billy Conn's left hand in there tonight."

Two More British

unable to say whether he would be likely to visit the United States, too, on his way home.

(Authoritative quarters in London said they had no knowledge of an impending visit by Matsukoka.)

The attack on the English-bound convoy in African waters was made the subject of a "sonder meldung," a special report—which is the ceremonial form of transmitting information which the high command regards of great importance to the German people.

The announcement caused great elation here and was taken by Germans as proof that the intensified submarine warfare which Hitler had proclaimed for March and April was well under way.

Beyond Building Pace
Military observers said U-boats and planes were sinking British ships at such a rate that shipbuilders of the world could not keep pace with it. The high command announced the sinking of another freighter and the firing of a second in air attacks about England.

The work of festooning the city for a rousing welcome for Matsukoka began, and the semi-official magazine, Berlin-Rome-Tokyo, observed that "blitz diplomacy" goes hand-in-hand with blitzkrieg and hinted that other states may be joining the three-power pact soon.

But there was no comment in Berlin whether this latter hint might be directed at Yugoslavia.

Berlin-Rome-Tokyo said, however, that anyone wishing to know what nations were involved "need only observe the melancholy efforts British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is making to play around with certain European states."

Hagerstown Attorney Is Severely Burned

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 21 (AP)—William Wingert, 70, Hagerstown attorney, was burned severely today when his bathrobe caught fire as he was starting a fire in a stove. He was taken to Hagerstown hospital for treatment of burns on the body arms and legs.

Hospital attendants said his injuries were serious but not critical.

Giarabub Taken By the British

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—The Reuters (British) news agency in a dispatch from Cairo said tonight it had been announced officially that Giarabub, long-besieged Italian oasis in eastern Libya, had been captured by British forces.

Cut off from help, the Giarabub garrison had held out valiantly for fifteen weeks. Bardia, 150 miles to the north, fell on January 5 in the initial British surge into Libya.

The oasis lies in the heart of the Libyan desert.

'SQUATTER PROBLEM' IS BOTHERING MINNESOTA SOLON

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) told the House today that it was faced with a "squatter problem" in its own office building.

He referred, he said, to the failure of former Rep. Kent Keller, Illinois Democrat, to move out of quarters in the building, although he was defeated in the last election and his successor has taken office.

Suggesting "suitable action" to increase Keller's comfort, Knutson told his colleagues, "think how a cafeteria would contribute."

"Or," he suggested, "a woman bath, perhaps a Turkish bath with a massage in attendance. And then, of course, there should be a hostess. Anyway that would be up to the Appropriations committee."

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the House Rules committee remarked that he was "perhaps to blame" for Keller's remaining in the building, but added that it "cost the government nothing."

He had, he said, notified Keller on March 17 that the space was needed and asked him to wind up his affairs.

Rep. Patrick (D-Ala.) said that Keller should be given "time to remove his roots and tendrils from the soil in which he was cultivated."

"We never know," he observed, "when that same old chicken is going to roost right on top of our own barn."

Small Loans Bill Tabled by House

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 21 (AP)—Maryland legislators killed a small loan bill tonight that would have set the maximum monthly interest on small loans at two per cent instead of the present legal three and one half per cent maximum.

With the measure a special order in the House a 60-32 majority readily approved a motion by Delegate Charles S. Houck, Jr. (D-Frederick) to table the bill.

Following the tabling of the bill—which defeats the measure for this session, at least—Bertram L. Boone (D-Baltimore) attempted to apply a legislative "clinch" that would have prevented any further small loan legislation from appearing in the House.

The House overruled Boone on a plea by Majority Floor Leader John S. White (D-Prince George's) that an administration measure setting a three per cent maximum monthly interest on small loans was on its way to the House floor and should not be refused consideration.

The three per cent maximum bill was drawn up by Miss Mary Ristau, state commissioner of small loans, and is slated to be reported out of the House committee on insurance and loans next week.

preparatory period and put the change into effect at midnight Saturday or some such pre-determined time.

But not Gene. He hauled off and signed the bill at 11:35 this morning. This immediately made it 12:35 this afternoon, and time for lunch.

So the governor went to lunch, the news went out and the Western third of the state (old Central time territory) went goofy trying to figure what time it was.

Mayor Roy Lecraw of (Central time) Atlanta said the city would recognize the new time at midnight, tonight, Columbus, site of huge Fort Benning in the old Central time area, called on city attorneys for expert advice.

In the meantime, here are some of the pretty questions raised at once by the governor's unprecedented swapping of time horses in midstream of a business day (many of them were unanswered tonight).

What about all the folks who came to work on Central time? Should they quit on Eastern time, thereby clipping the boss for an hour? And what about the men who didn't hear about the change and reported for afternoon or night shifts on time (EST)?

When was school out? Who was late and who was early on those dates tonight?

How many customers miscalculated on the time the feature picture began or the time that bus left?

War Department Plea Halts Strike At Wright Field

AFL Leader Orders 400 Building Tradesmen Back to Work

DAYTON, O., March 21 (AP)—On the War department's appeal that further interruption of work on a $5,900,000 expansion program at Wright field would "seriously cripple the defense program," an AFL leader today halted a seventeen-day strike of 400 building trade unionists.

Most of the men will return to work tomorrow, the remainder Monday, on construction of a wind tunnel, torque stand, administration building addition and radio and dynamometer laboratories at this gigantic testing center for new planes and aircraft equipment being developed for the army air corps.

CIO Electricians Stay
They will go back despite the presence of four CIO electricians, whose return to work March 4 prompted John Breidenbach, president of the Dayton Central Labor Union (AFL), to call a second strike. The first, late in January, lasted two days and ended when the CIO men were taken off the job. The War department ordered them to resume electrical installations.

"Since the CIO, with a meager minority of four members, refuses to act in the interests of the nation in the Wright field controversy and since the United States army funds itself unable to do so, it remains for the 400 members of the AFL involved to do so," Breidenbach wired Under Secretary of War Robert Patterson.

Patterson earlier telegraphed that "further delay will seriously cripple the defense program" and appealed to both sides to subordinate their differences to permit resumption of work.

Praised by Col. Lester Miller
Field Commandant Col. Lester Miller declared that the strike settlement was "a fine American act where any thought of personal and factional differences has been set aside for the good of the entire nation."

"The army had insisted that the expansion program was essential in making Wright field one of the most important military aircraft centers in the United States and Maj. Gen. G. H. Brett, the aviation chief told a congressional committee that the work was important in the development of planes and engines."

All equipment purchased by the air corps first must undergo rigid tests at Wright field.

Senate Sub-

appropriations committee takes up the bill.

Before the sub-committee acted today, it heard William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management, testify that the full amount of $7,000,000,000 would be committed during the fiscal year beginning in July.

"We may not be able to spend the entire $7,000,000,000 in the year, but we will make commitments for it," Knudsen told reporters in giving them the gist of his testimony at the closed committee session.

Discuss Labor Disputes
It was learned some senators questioned Knudsen on the relations of strikes to the progress of defense and were told that while labor disputes had impeded the program to some extent, the problem was being worked out and he expected little trouble in the future.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) of the sub-committee said there had been much "off the record" testimony in the course of the hearings by officers of the army, navy and the civilian defense setup. This, he added, included no talk of conveying ships to Europe.

Adams said that Congress, in its present mood, would accept an appropriation of almost any amount—"five, ten, fifteen or even twenty billions." The sum in the present measure, he added, was "merely an estimate."

vic minister of justice. Their fellow-dissenter was said to be Milan Protich, minister of supplies.

Cubrilovic, who heads the Serb Peasant party, called a meeting of his party chiefs to discuss the situation.

Paul Meets Leaders
Prince Paul, too, met with leaders of the parties represented by the retiring cabinet members to see if they would agree on more compliant substitutes.

Minister to Russia, Vadenovic was said to have sent his resignation to Prince Paul also in protest against the Axis plan.

The press disclosed that Prince Paul last night asked the advice of the Patriarch of the Serbian church but that the Patriarch, extending his hands in a helpless gesture, said his interest was to preserve peace.

Disclosure that four of the country's most prominent generals were pensioned earlier this week merely as "routine" increased the national tension. The general staff was said to have advised an understanding with Germany, but fewer officers and the rank and file among the country's army of 1,000,000 were irate.

Plants for Army Of Four Million Passed by House

Big Appropriation Bill Is Adopted with Single Dissenting Vote

By REX INGRAHAM
WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—The House, maintaining the swift tempo of its handling of defense measures, approved with virtual unanimity today a $4,073,810,074 appropriation to speed up the virtual program and provide sufficient new plants to supply a 4,000,000-man army "on a combat status."

Final passage of the huge fund, which now goes to the Senate, came on a roll-call vote of 327 to 0, but Rep. Marcantonio (Al-NY), sole opponent of numerous other defense measures, announced he was "paired" against the bill and voted "present."

Just before the final vote, the House rejected an amendment by Rep. R-S-D which now would have prohibited the use of any of the funds for conveying materials to any foreign countries. The measure contained no allocation of funds for such a purpose and Rep. Woodrum (D-Va) appealed for defeat of the amendment. He said the House ought to quit trying to revise the Lease-Lend law every time it considered a bill.

Twenty-five Billions Exceeded
Opening the debate, Woodrum told the House the bill would increase to $25,182,674,015 the total of appropriations, contract authorizations and pending budget estimates made for national defense since Germany's invasion of the low countries. That stupendous sum does not include the $7,000,000,000 which the House voted two days ago to finance the British-aid program.

Despite the lack of organized opposition to the newest outlay, Rep. Bradley (R-Mich) expressed concern over the implications of a $549,925,000 for new munition plant capacity. Asserting he understood an attacking force should have a numerical superiority of four to one, Bradley said he did not see any prospect of this country's invasion by a 16,000,000-man army and that, therefore, preparations for a 4,000,000 army here "must mean an expeditionary force" is contemplated.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, and Robert P. Patterson, under secretary of war, explained to the House Appropriations committee that the new plants were of a character which took a long time to build and get into operation. They indicated the factories were wanted in reserve in case the international situation demanded expansion of the army beyond the 1,418,000 to be in service by June 30.

Among the major army items in the bill was $1,343,288,144 for the air corps to acquire 3,600 heavy and medium bombers to be assembled at four new Mid-West plants now under construction, and 1,425 other bombers and transport planes required to complete the corps' 18,000-plane program.

An additional $63,000,000 was included because of increased costs of the aircraft program undertaken last year and $971,769,114 was earmarked for so-called "critical" items, including ordnance, signal, medical, chemical-warfare and engineering equipment.

wrestlers and persons with notorious proclivities to violent habits" for the purpose of "thwarting, obstructing and impeding union organization and collective bargaining."

Intimidation Charged
Such "gangs," the complaint said, were instructed to "intimidate and threaten with bodily harm, and commit assaults and acts of violence upon members, agents and representatives of labor organizations x x x."

The company also is accused of circulating "statements and propaganda disparaging and criticizing labor organizations and holding them up to scorn and contempt x x x."

The complaint said that the company sought to "advise, urge and threaten its employees to refrain from joining or assisting the union."

The allegations apply to company activities at three Ford plants in the Detroit area, the same three where the UAW-CIO field its notice of "intent to strike" which was union grievances at these plants which Dewey tried to settle.

Dewey said that three weeks of mediation conferences, together with steps taken by the Ford Company and the National Labor Relations Board, had eased tension between the company and the union which existed when the UAW-CIO field its notice of "intent to strike" with state authorities on Feb. 27.

The strike notice affected the Rouge, Lincoln and Highland Park Ford plants, which together employ nearly 100,000 men in the Detroit area. The company has $154,000,000 worth of defense contracts.

Dewey said the union's most pressing grievance was removed when the company reinstated "most" of 1,000 Rouge plant employees dismissed during the past seven months. The union contended the men were discharged for union activity, the company that the lay-offs were seasonal.

He explained further that Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, had consented "to work out any problem with me that warrants my attention, such as reinstatement of men whose work has been satisfactory."

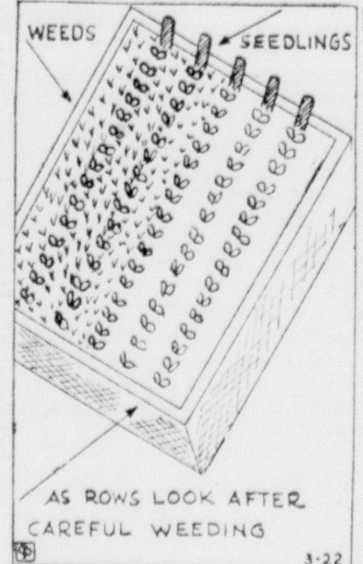

Dewey said an NLRB hearing Monday on UAW-CIO petitions for employee elections would dispose of the union's demands for bargaining rights.

Today's GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Distributed by Central Press Association)

CARE OF SEEDLINGS FOR HOME VEGETABLE GARDEN
Just as soon as the vegetable seeds begin to germinate in the seed flats indoors, remove and covering and place them in full light.

To avoid trouble do not over-water the seedlings nor allow them to become too dry. Watering should be done in the morning so the plants can go through the night dry. If they are watered on the surface, use a syringe which will spray the plants with a fine mist. Care must be taken with seedlings not to wash them out, or to wash the soil away from their roots.

As illustrated in the Garden Graph, if the seedlings have been planted in straight rows it will be easy to detect the weeds. Keep the seedlings cultivated, as the weeds will steal moisture and food, needed by the seedlings. The weeds also will compete with the seedlings for space and light. The result is the seedlings suffer and are not able to develop properly.

In 1404, at Coventry, England, a parliament convened by Henry IV. was known as the "Parliament of Dunces," the "Unlearned Parliament," and the "Lack-learning Parliament." All lawyers were excluded.

Building permits issued in 204 Canadian municipalities in 1940 totalled $112,691,456.

Skunk Family Invades Oakland High School

OAKLAND, March 21.—A skunk family's apparent desire for an education, or at least a passion to be near educated people, was not received with much enthusiasm at Oakland high school by its principal, teachers or pupils—or Custodian George Weiling, upon whom fell the responsibility of informing the family that their presence was not welcome.

Recently, it was discovered that the inquisitive animals had found a ventilator into which they could crawl, between the first floor and the basement ceiling, a cozy place to spend the winter.

Foraging for food, the skunks ventured to neighboring places. Just the other evening, Julius Littman, traveling up the alley from his house, adjacent to the high school, thought he saw a groundhog. He gave chase, and the animal ran Showered at the homemaker who plans her meals with all kinds of leftover possibilities in mind. She saves marketing energy and time by making a jiffy, and cuts down cooking fuel costs.

When more than enough vegetables are cooked for a meal, the extras will be ready for use in soups, stews, salads and escalloped dishes. It is well to buy meat's with a thought for several meals. You can cook all at once and the leftovers can come on the table cold sliced, reheated in gravy or savory sauce, or under a pastry cover, and makes a final appearance as tasty hash.

If an array of meat or fish tidbits and assorted vegetable leftovers greets you upon opening the refrigerator, take heart and get busy on this FRANKLIN LOAF. (Ben, the thrifty soul, probably encouraged great use of leftovers.) Mix 1 1/2 cups chopped cooked meat, 1 cup cooked vegetables, 1/2 cup diced cooked celery, 1 cup bread cubes, 1

A new taste treat—baked potatoes stuffed with leftover smoked turkey pate.

BAKED POTATOES

A la Pinesbridge

4 medium potatoes.
2 pounds smoked turkey pate.
2 tablespoons butter.
Scrub potatoes and brush with melted butter. Place on end in buttered baking dish. Bake in hot oven, 425-450 in 40 minutes. Remove from oven and squeeze potatoes at top to break skin. Place about a teaspoon of the pate mixture in liver potato in opening of potato. Ready to serve.

cup gravy, milk or tomato sauce, and 2 eggs or 4 yolks. Season with salt, pepper, minced onions and parsley. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

Macaroni, cheese and meat balls (all leftovers, of course), combine into a wholesome main dish when made like this. Cut meat into half inch cubes and mix into the macaroni. Add 1/2 as much milk as macaroni and place in double boiler. Cover tightly and cook 10 minutes or until steaming. Stir with a fork. This can be fashioned into timbales by blending 2 beaten eggs into 2 cups macaroni mixture. 1/2 cup cubed cooked meat, 1/2 cup milk, tomato sauce or tomato juice and 1 teaspoon minced parsley. Bake in buttered timbale or custard cups for 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold and surround with sauce highly seasoned.

Cold meat loaf, often rather solid, can be rejuvenated with fruit juices and fruit garnishes. Lay slices of the loaf in a shallow pan, sprinkle with fruit juices (apricot, pineapple, peach or pear). Cover and bake 15 minutes. Serve on a heated platter and garnish with broiled fruits.

Leftover stuffing, rice, mashed potatoes or macaroni makes an of interesting layer for meat or fish the soft cloth.

Salmon Bisque Is Good for Supper

Supper soups are a good idea to feature. They form the basis of the meal are easy to prepare, and make the meal preparation simple for the cook. If you have one of those lovely soup tureens, use it, and serve the soup at the table. Salmon bisque is a delicate creamed soup and you will find it a favorite.

Salmon Bisque

1/2 cup minced onion, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup light cream, 1 quart milk, 1 lb. can salmon, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, paprika.
Sauté the onion in the butter until tender, but not brown. Add flour and seasonings; stir until smooth. Add cream, milk, and the liquid and oil from the salmon. (The liquid and oil are the natural juices from the salmon and contain excellent food value that ought to be used.) Cook over hot water until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Flake the salmon in fine pieces and add to the mixture. Heat and add Worcestershire sauce. Sprinkle each serving with paprika. Eight servings.

A bowl of salad would be good to serve with the soup or as a separate course. It can be made with a can of mixed vegetables, and canned asparagus tips, or it can be made of mixed salad greens with French dressing and a canned pear half in the center of the greens. Try to choose something crisp to make a contrast with the smooth, delicate soup.

SOME COOKING AND OTHER HINTS

Put your white wash on the sunny side of the line and keep the colored clothing in the shade.

Never use a knife for cutting angel food cake; use a fork.

Meat should not be seasoned until it is partially cooked.

Wire and iron bed-springs that become rusty should be given a coat of paint.

Mirrors should never be hung where the sun shines directly on them for any length of time.

Pillow slips iron easier lengthwise.

Washing soda is one of the safest, most economical and effective water softeners.

A lemon will yield nearly double the amount of juice if it is heated thoroughly before squeezing.

Cooking a Goose Can Be Routine

"Cooking somebody's goose" is usually a rather ticklish business for most people. But with experts of the United States Bureau of Home Economics it is just routine business. Here is the Bureau's latest advice on how to cook a young goose.

A goose is a fat bird, and this fact influences how much to buy, how much to roast the bird, the kind of stuffing, and the dishes to serve with it. Each serving requires about one and a half pounds of goose—dressed but not drawn and with head and feet still on. A plump goose is usually more satisfactory than an excessively fat one.

Goose like all meat, is best cooked at a moderate temperature. Roast it uncovered in a shallow pan with a rack in the bottom and add no water during roasting. For a ten to 12 pound goose, allow three or four hours with the oven at about 325 Fahrenheit. Because it is fat, the goose is a self-baster and the cook need not spoon hot fat over it as in roasting a chicken or turkey.

down, then alternate breast-down and breast-up positions. Turn about every half hour to get all parts of it evenly cooked. If it is a fat goose, prick the skin during the roasting so the fat can drain.

Stuffing for geese is made of the usual three ingredients—a starchy base, some fat for richness and flavor, and seasoning. But the goose will supply most of the fat. Stuffing made from rice is especially popular for geese. Celery, tart apples, or dried apricots are good additions.

PRESSED CHICKEN NOT SO COMPLICATED

Though most home cooks look on the task of making pressed chicken as a rather complicated process, this recipe simplifies the procedure:

Ingredients: One chicken cooked very tender, one cup rich chicken stock, six hard-cooked eggs, one-half cup finely chopped parsley, two tablespoons cold water and two teaspoons gelatin.

Directions: Cut up chicken, discarding bones and skin and separating light and dark meat. Then chop very fine the light and dark meat and the egg yolks and whites—all separately. Soften the gelatin in cold water, then dissolve in the boiling chicken stock. Season according to taste and arrange the various ingredients in pan in layers—dark meat, egg yolks, parsley, light meat and egg whites. Pour the remaining stock over top and chill. Serve sliced.

Pillsbury's contribution to a stronger... more vital... America

Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour

Containing precious, extra B-Vitamins and Iron

You wives and mothers want to see your children grow as they should. You want your whole family to be able to make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates)—which is essential to sound nerves, good appetite, the ability to thrive on hard physical work. Here is news of tremendous importance! Science has perfected a way to add to fine white flour these essentials of healthy living!

Now, in Pillsbury's Best Flour—that same fine dependable flour which four generations of good cooks have used to do their best baking—you also get added Vitamin B₁ (thiamin), iron, and Vitamin P—essentials to the health and well-being of your entire family.

The United States Government, through the National Research Council, asked that enriched flour be put on the market with all possible speed—to help make a healthier, more vital nation. Enriched Pillsbury's Best is ready for you now at your grocer's. Ask for it when you buy flour—make sure that your family gets these three precious added food elements, which are daily essentials to their health and well-being!

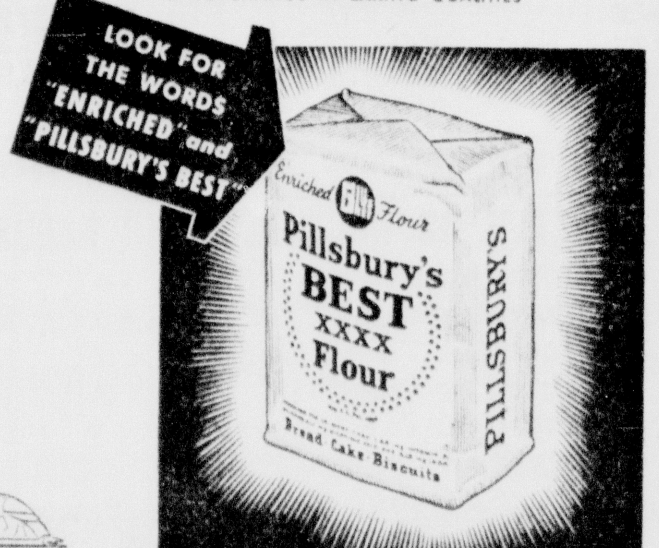

Pillsbury answers your questions about this new enrichment of white flour

You understand that modern science has perfected a way to add precious food elements to your "daily bread." But just what is being added? What does it mean to you? Here, briefly, are the answers to those natural questions of yours.

1. Vitamin B₁ (thiamin) is added—helps the body make proper use of energy foods (carbohydrates), which is essential to: (a) Proper growth in children, (b) Good appetite for both young and old, (c) Sound nerves, (d) Ability to thrive on hard physical work.
2. Iron is added—helps build red blood.
3. Vitamin P is added—another member of the Vitamin B complex, which also overcomes certain deficiencies in the diet.

Every pound of Pillsbury's Best is now enriched with these three food essentials.

It's the same fine, dependable PILLSBURY'S BEST... now enriched!

Ulcers 'Seasonal' In Some Patients, Physician Notes

Various Causes of the Disease Are Discussed by Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The "Ides of March" and that general period of the calendar, whatever it meant to Julius Caesar, means to a friend of mine the period of the year when people with ulcers begin to tune up again and complain. It is true, my friend is a drug manufacturer who makes a preparation for the treatment of ulcer of the stomach, and this may explain his particular interest in this season.

But it certainly is true that ulcer of the stomach is a recurrent disease and people may have symptoms from their ulcers particularly in the spring and fall and be quite comfortable in the winter and summer for several years, until finally the ulcer ceases to trouble. This is perfectly natural, because changes of seasons bring about changes in the pace of life and involve mental and physical stresses. The ulcer patient, however, may take comfort in the fact that even when these symptoms recur they are quite as easy to control as they were at the beginning in practically all cases.

But it seems an appropriate time to talk about ulcers for the benefit of those who have to endure them.

Ulcer Explained
What are the causes of ulcer of the stomach and duodenum? Why do they recur? What is the nature of an ulcer anyway?

An ulcer anywhere in the body is a solution of continuity of the membrane. It is usually round or oval, and is therefore a round, punched-out hole in the mucous membrane, which exposes the connective tissues underneath. Of course, it also exposes nerves, which is the cause of the discomfort.

Ulcers are due to various causes; bad circulation, as varicose veins of the legs; infection, as ulcer of the cornea of the eye; chemical irritation, as destruction of skin from lye or other caustic, or physical destruction, as from burns. Ulcers from infections, caustics and burns usually heal promptly unless the infection is augmented or unless the irritation is continued.

Definite Cause Unknown
Now, using this as a background in order to try to explain peptic ulcer, we may say, in the first place, that we do not know definitely the cause of it but we do have these elements present. In the first place, very often, infection—perhaps infection which lies there from a tooth or tonsil, and in the second place—and this is the reason it is called "peptic"—there is an increase in the normal amount of gastric juice and especially an increase in the hydrochloric acid, which is always present in gastric juice. In other words, we have a continuously irritating chemical substance, which keeps the ulcer going.

Some people have a constitutional habit which predisposes them toward ulcer, and it is quite possible that in their cases there is some deformity of the stomach or its blood vessels which adds to the circulatory factor.

All these things are important in the treatment of peptic ulcer, which I will discuss Monday.

Lenten Reducing Diet
Van Noorden's (famous Vienna physician) diet:

Breakfast: Fruit; one egg; one piece toast with butter; coffee without cream or sugar.

Lunch: Soup; one portion lean meat; potatoes, three and one-half ounces; bread and butter; glass of milk.

DINNER: Vegetable plate; spinach, beans, cauliflower, carrots, etc.; fruit dessert; coffee with cream and sugar.

Governor Asks Grand Jury Probe Of Legislative Payroll Padding

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—A grand jury investigation was asked tonight by Governor M. M. Neely of "impressive evidence" that the state had been robbed of $720 by means of forgery, graft and the padding of the legislative payroll.

He mentioned no names. The request was contained in a letter sent by special messenger to Intermediate Judge D. Jackson Savage of Kanawha county.

With the letter went photographic copies of six state warrants, two affidavits and two statements and a certification of attach records in the House of Delegates clerks' office.

The governor, in response to questions about the letter, he made public shortly after it was received by Judge Savage, said the documents involved four persons whose names were on the House of Delegates attach list for the 1941 session of the legislature, which ended March 8.

The two affidavits and two statements set forth that the persons named in the state warrants never had received the money nor endorsed the checks, the governor said. He did not disclose the residence of the persons involved.

Judge Savage said he would turn the documents over to Prosecuting Attorney J. Blackburn Watts, who received a copy of the letter, for possible further investigation.

"Although the matter is of great public importance," the jurist added, "I do not feel it is necessary to impanel a special grand jury."

He explained that the regular intermediate court grand jury has been drawn and summoned to report April 7, saying he felt certain the grand jury would take "prompt action."

Spencer Man Succeeds Cornwell on Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—Fred P. McIntosh Jr., Spencer hardware merchant, was appointed to the West Virginia Industrial Union Council (CIO) today by Governor Neely to serve the unexpired term of former Governor John J. Cornwell, of Romney.

Cornwell, who resigned recently as general counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and a newspaper publisher, his term ends June 30, 1941.

Another former governor, Howard M. Gore of Clarksburg, took the oath of office as Republican member of the Public Service Commission and immediately went to the bench to hear motor carrier cases with C. E. Nelkin, only remaining member of the old commission.

A short time later, the oath also was taken before Secretary of State W. S. O'Brien by former Circuit Judge E. B. Pennybacker of Parkersburg, and he sat on the bench for a time. Pennybacker was named to succeed Chairman John J. D. Preston, Charleston.

Two Dismissed Officials Sit Tight, Wait Social Security Board Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—Two dismissed officials of the Unemployment Compensation department sat tight again today although both were off the payroll, waiting for action by the Social Security Board or department officials.

The dismissal of Howard E. Woodward, senior deputy in charge of the jobless insurance area office in Fairmont, was disclosed today.

Both Woodward and C. P. McKenna, chief of the State Employment Service, contend they are covered by the merit system for federal-aided state departments and not subject to dismissal without cause and fifteen days notice.

McKenna said he had written a letter about the "facts" in his case to the Social Security Board at Washington. Officials there said the matter had been turned over to James H. Woodall, regional director.

Department officials said McKenna was off the payroll "as of January 17," while Woodward's name was removed as of March 15,

Labor's Rights Must Be Preserved, W. Va. CIO Head Tells Clubmen

Workers Shouldn't Be Blamed if Forced To Strike, Easton Says

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—President John B. Easton of the West Virginia Industrial Union Council (CIO) declared today that "If we in the ranks of labor must resort to strikes to compel some of these employers to be good Americans, then we should not be blamed."

There are strikes in only sixteen of the 600 concerns which are working on ninety per cent of defense orders, Easton told the Charleston Civic club. "Just a small drop in the great ocean of employment."

One of the struck firms is the International Harvester Company. The CIO leader added, saying the strike was called "principally because of their refusal to obey the law of the land, as enunciated in the Labor Relations act, and to give a small percentage of x x profits to their workers."

Despite this, he said, "Labor is held to blame."

"National security does not consist exclusively of armed preparedness," Easton asserted. "It covers also security to human right of the people and one of these is the right to work and earn a living x x"

"We are prepared to lend practical, wholesale and feasible cooperation in any undertaking to protect this nation and prepare for national defense. The ideals and objectives of the Congress of Industrial Organizations are an essential part of the national policy x x x"

"Throughout any national emergency, labor's rights x x x must be preserved."

He said these rights were organization, collective bargaining and freedom of "speech, assembly, action, and worship."

At another point, Easton said:

"While speaking about 'isms,' Trojan horses and fifth columns, let us not overlook another group who have once more shown their heads when the nation is facing this critical period—I refer to the money interests x x x"

"The money interests are refusing to accept government orders, start their plants and manufacture these materials until the government guarantees them, through legislation, their right to reap another harvest of profits."

Guffey Act Extension Weighed in House

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The House Ways and Means committee deferred today until tomorrow morning action on a resolution (H.R. 101) to extend the life of the Guffey Coal act for two years.

Meeting in executive session the group heard long explanations of the price area and marketing districts set up by the coal division in establishing minimum prices based on cost of production and transportation charges to consuming centers.

Committee members said, however, that the study of rate areas was wholly an informative discussion and did not mean that the committee intended to consider amendments to the coal law.

Earlier, they had voted to remove the consumers' counsel from the coal division and establish it as an independent agency.

Sixteen Tucker Farmers Enroll In 1941 Contest

Registration for Annual Competition Scheduled To Close April 1

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—With only ten days remaining for farmers to enroll in the 1941 "Farming for Better Living" program in the Monongahela Valley area, sixteen residents of Tucker county have already announced their intention of participating in the contest, according to County Agent Arnett L. Mrs. Hayward F. Broadwater entertained at a chop suey supper at her home here last evening. Guests were Mrs. Ira L. Huff, Mrs. Benny Epstein, Mrs. Edwin Robeson, Mrs. George B. Shields, Mrs. Frank J. Getty, Mrs. William E. Tarbell, Mrs. Julius Remlinger, Misses Emma Caulk, Ruth Keefe, Margaret Renstrom, Ruth McMurray and Catherine Speicher. Following a two-course supper three tables of contract were in play. Prizes for high scores went to Mrs. Remlinger and Miss Renstrom, who were first and second respectively, and Mrs. Epstein received the floating prize.

The chili supper and bazaar sponsored by the ladies of the Methodist church last night was well attended. A crowd estimated at more than 100 was present, and practically all the articles for the bazaar were disposed of. Approximately $61 was netted from the supper and bazaar alone. The proceeds will be contributed to the fund being accumulated to defray the expense of improvements to the church.

Jesus Condemned and Crucified

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 23 is Luke 22:39-23:56, the Golden Text being Matt. 27:22, "What then shall I do unto Jesus who is called Christ?")

SO MANY events are crowded into today's lesson that we cannot fully cover them all. They are tragic events and show how far cruel men will go to remove from their paths One who has done them no harm, only good, but whom they fear because of His power. Also how low man can sink in treachery.

After the supper with His disciples, they all went as was their habit, to the Mount of Olives. Jesus told the disciples to "pray that ye enter not into temptation," and went aside to pray by Himself, saying, "Father if Thou be willing, remove this cup from Me; nevertheless not My will, but Thine, be done." The cup must have been the awful suffering on the cross and the ill-treatment He was to experience before that dreadful fate.

Returning to the disciples after an agony of emotion, Jesus found them sleeping, and sorrowfully asked them, "Why sleep ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptation." As He spoke, a great multitude approached, soldiers, chief priests and just plain people. Judas was among them, and he went up to Jesus, intending to kiss Him, but Jesus said, "Judas, betrayest thou the Son of Man with a kiss?"

Cuts Off Servant's Ear
The disciples got ready to fight. In fact, one of them cut off the ear of a servant of the chief priest, but was rebuked by Christ, who healed the man. Jesus looked over the mob and said mildly, "Be ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and staves?"

"When I was daily with you in the temple, ye stretched forth no hands against Me; but this is your hour, and the power of darkness."

Jesus was taken to the house of the chief priest. A fire was kindled in the middle of the hall, and Peter joined the crowd around it. A woman asked him if he was one of Jesus' followers, but Peter quickly denied it. "Two other people accused him of being a disciple, and when he denied it for the third time he heard the cock crow, and remembered Jesus' words. He saw the Lord look at him, and he went out and wept bitterly because of his disloyalty.

Some of the rabble who surrounded the Master struck at Him and mocked Him. Next day they took Him before Pilate, who questioned Him, but found no fault with Him and sent Him to Herod, in whose territory lay Galilee. Herod was interested in seeing this man he had heard so much of.

Sinner Is Saved
One of the criminals also mocked the Lord, telling Him that if He was the Lord, to save Himself and them. But the other hushed him, saying that he deserved the punishment, but not Jesus, and to Jesus he said, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into Thy Kingdom." And Jesus answered, "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with Me in paradise."

At the sixth hour it grew dark and suddenly the veil that hung between the holy place and the holy of holies in the temple was torn. It was a heavy veil more than 30 feet long, and this miracle and the darkness all about must have terrified the wicked men who had killed their Lord. With the rending of the veil Jesus cried in a loud voice, "Father, into Thy hands I commend My spirit," and died. A Roman soldier, seeing what had happened, "glorified God, saying, certainly this was a righteous man."

"And behold, there was a man named Joseph, a counsellor, and he was a good man, and a just." He had not consented to the condemnation of Jesus and was himself a follower of the Master. He was a rich man, and he came to ask that he might take the body of Christ and give it proper burial. He took the body down, wrapped it in linen and laid it in a sepulchre that was hewn out of the stone. And the women brought spices and ointments and saw how the body was laid, but it was now the Sabbath and they rested, according to the law.

Text of Winning Composition In Fourth VFW Essay Contest

Frank Jeannot, senior of Allegany high school, yesterday was declared the winner of the local essay contest conducted by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The text of the winning composition, entitled "One Nation, Indivisible," is as follows:

"One nation, indivisible," truly a remarkable statement for these troubled times. Originating long ago with the birth of the American Creed, the description still holds true. Yes, one nation that is indivisible, that has weathered the storm through all the years of chaos and turmoil, that has survived though the map of the world has changed many times. The inhabitants of the "one nation," are proud of this fact, proud of their heritage.

"This nation, that ranks first in economic possibilities though third in geographic size, is composed of thirty-eight separate sovereign states able to live in harmony, unity, and strong loyalty to the form of government under which they are united a democracy.

"It is true that our democracy is restricted; certainly we can't roam about doing just as we please while treating on other's toes. But we can, as long as we do not interfere with the life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness of our neighbors speak or act as we see fit.

"We can seek our happiness in our own way; we can work at the job we like without consulting a governmental department, and our wages on this job are the highest in the world. In but one nation have the people such advantages and such freedom.

Are We "Indivisible"?

"Everyone accepts the fact that the United States is one nation. No state claims any particular immunity from the jurisdiction of the national government; no section boasts that it does not have to obey our statutes. So it is universally accepted that this is one nation. But ARE WE INDIVISIBLE?

"The answer to this question may be considered from many viewpoints. "First, let us consider that of past history. By this measurement it would seem that we are an indivisible nation.

"I am one of those people who believe that this country was destined to be one nation, indivisible, and that nothing could have stopped it. Let us pause and think of a few historical events.

"We are able to add to our land the great Louisiana Purchase because the indomitable American spirit forced Napoleon III to give up his dream of an empire in America. Although the mighty world power, France, could not hold this land, the young, growing America absorbed and developed it to form an inseparable part of this nation.

"Another of our land acquisitions was Texas, an independent nation that developed out of a revolution. The Texans had bitterly fought rather than have their free spirit crushed and suppressed by a military dictatorship. We acquired this land because the spirit of Americanism had grown strong enough in the hardy Texans to make them desirous of becoming a part of one free nation, indivisible rather than remaining an independent nation separate from the land their forefathers had built.

"Similarly we finished the forming of the nation by the Mexican war, the Gadsden purchase, the Florida purchase, and the arbitration of the Oregon territory.

"By perseverance and courage the great men we speak of simply as pioneers formed this one great nation that is to be indivisible, or so we fervently hope.

"Look at Europe!"

"There have been many times when it was suggested that we try dividing this great nation. Many of our greatest statesmen have said, "This continent is large enough for more than one nation, look at Europe! Yes, I reiterate, look at Europe! War scarred, unsatisfied, poverty stricken groups of people every group attempting to push its neighbors back and in a perpetual state of unrest. We should thank God that we have never tried the European plan of divisibility.

"Several times we have come near the calamity of internal division; few episodes stand out notably.

"The first was during the time when the Mississippi river was closed by Spain to our Western farmers. Many of them became disgusted and said they preferred to join Spain rather than to suffer during the long period of waiting which was necessary on account of the slow process of the United States legislation.

"But the heritage of freedom and unity handed down by their forefathers overcame the desire to join Spain and alleviate their immediate suffering. Instead, they waited for the just, but slow process of democracy. Hence, another obstacle was brushed from the path of the inevitable goal of our one nation, indivisible.

"But the largest and most nearly successful attempt at division was our Civil War, when our Southern states on account of economic conditions due to slaves and climate seceded and tried to form a better society among themselves.

"This did not succeed largely through the effort and foresight of probably our most beloved president and true great American, Abraham Lincoln, and also because the majority of the people did not sanction division of the nation.

"We have studied the case from the basis of past history and have discovered that our mighty government has weathered all the storms and still remains "one nation" undivided. But, in the light of the present crisis can we hope to remain that way?

"It is certainly true that we are

FIRST CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR CLASSIFIED BY LOCAL DRAFT BOARD

Local Draft Board No. 3 has classified its first conscientious objector since the Selective Service act went into effect.

The man objected to both combatant and non-combatant service. After various forms are sent to state headquarters and one to national headquarters of Selective Service a final decision will be made in the case.

The man was placed in Class 4-E and when his order number comes up and he is ready for induction the local board will send him to a camp which will produce products for national defense, board officials said.

This camp will probably be in the vicinity of Elliott City, Md., draft officials added.

Nabbed several hours after he took an automobile parked near the jurisdiction of the national government, no section boasts that it does not have to obey our statutes. So it is universally accepted that this is one nation. But ARE WE INDIVISIBLE?

facing a crisis now, even greater than ever before. International honor has largely disappeared. International ruthlessness has increased a thousandfold. The individual has ceased to count; there is now just the "state," except in this one country, "the one nation, indivisible."

"I believe that this will continue to be our America and my America, "one nation, indivisible," because as the crisis grows, the strength and the spirit of a free people grow and they learn anew how to love a country with a renewed fervor and how to protect from its worst enemy, internal division, their mighty "one nation, indivisible."

Senate will be in session today until about 6 p. m.

Four Allegheny county bills were approved yesterday by the House of Delegates and sent to the Senate.

These bills included:

HB 520, introduced by Miss Elizabeth Doub, pertaining to the extension of time for the collection of taxes in Lonaconing to six years. School Bill Passes.

HB 678, introduced by Lester B. Reed, relating to a bond issue for $300,000 for the erection of a new school in Mt. Savage.

HB 695 introduced by Jonathan Sleeman, authorizing the City of Frostburg to purchase the Allegheny cemetery.

HB 727, introduced by Delegate J. Milton Dick, giving authority to the sheriff of Allegheny county to hire a clerk in his office at a salary of $75 a month.

The court house records office yesterday handled twenty-seven conditional sales agreements, three deeds, four chattel mortgages, one property mortgage and a bill of sale agreement.

A deed for Lot 13, Skiptondale addition, McMillen highway, was made to Mose C. Miller by Harvey Miller and Irene B. Miller for $500.

Property on Blocher alley, known as "Speelman's alley," was deeded to Carl A. Winfield and Mamie A. Winfield by Gertrude A. Carolan for $8,000.

Carl A. Winfield and Mamie A. Winfield gave a mortgage to the Western Maryland Building and Loan Association, Inc. for $3,500.

A $3,000 bill of sale by Carl A. Winfield and Mamie A. Winfield to the First National Bank for various items used in the manufacture of ice cream.

Fire broke out early Wednesday morning in the second-floor living room of the Radcliffe family on Bridge street, Ridgeley, W. Va., and caused damage estimated at more than $1,500.

The blaze, believed to have originated from an overheated stove in the living room, caused approximately $500 damage to second-floor furnishings. The house, owned by James J. Daugherty, 160 Main street, Ridgeley, was damaged to the extent of $1,000.

The downstairs rooms, occupied by E. W. Mason, was extensively damaged by water.

Ridgeley Volunteer firemen, who answered the call, reported the house was covered by insurance but were unable to say the same about the furnishings.

Three hundred eighty were permanently disabled yesterday and the same number will be permanently disabled today and each day according to statistics. In addition to those mentioned above, 537 persons receive minor injuries in the home each day.

So we have over 1,000 persons receiving injuries in the home daily. In an article in the March issue of "Better Homes and Gardens" these "home accidents" are covered rather fully.

"It says the home is more than twice as dangerous as the steel mill, railroad yard or powder mill. It also asserts that home accidents cost around 600 million dollars annually, and it praises the efforts of industrial management in "safety" records, but deprecates the mounting accident rate in homes."

It would seem that there is more danger of being killed or injured in homes than on the highways.

Suit for an absolute divorce was docketed in circuit court yesterday by Anna Margaret Halligan against David Michael Halligan on a charge of desertion.

The couple was married December 28, 1936, and lived together until January 4, 1937, when he left her, the bill of complaint alleges. One child was born of the marriage.

Due to a short circuit in the air conditioning system, operations in a section of the Celanese plant's spinning department were curtailed for several hours Thursday afternoon.

It required some time to locate the source of the trouble and there was considerable damage to machinery. However, production returned to normal later in the day.

Each point would have telephone connection with army aviation defense centers so that pursuit planes could take to the air promptly whenever an enemy plane appeared.

Hundreds of observation posts already have been mapped in Maryland. Harmon said the posts are clustered thickly at strategic points particularly around Baltimore, and in southern Maryland because of its proximity to Washington.

The plan, explained by an army officer from Mitchell Field at a six-hour conference with Legion officials, calls for the setting up of observation posts at high points for the detection of enemy airplanes.

The plan, explained by an army officer from Mitchell Field at a six-hour conference with Legion officials, calls for the setting up of observation posts at high points for the detection of enemy airplanes.

Each point would have telephone connection with army aviation defense centers so that pursuit planes could take to the air promptly whenever an enemy plane appeared.

Hundreds of observation posts already have been mapped in Maryland. Harmon said the posts are clustered thickly at strategic points particularly around Baltimore, and in southern Maryland because of its proximity to Washington.

Frostburg Legion Post Hits Sabotage Measure

FROSTBURG, March 21 — Frostburg Post No. 24, American Legion, has gone on record in opposition to Senate Bill 117, generally known as the anti-sabotage bill, it was announced tonight.

Post Commander Griffith Lewis said the Legion, at a special meeting Wednesday night, voted to notify Governor O'Connor and the House Judiciary committee that it opposed the measure, which has drawn the fire of organized labor throughout the state.

State Legion officials spoke for the bill at a recent hearing in Annapolis.

Opposition of the Frostburg post to the legislation follows similar action earlier in the week by James P. Love Post No. 92 of Lonaconing.

Those drawn are: Paul D. Pickens, Thomas W. Fahey, William C. Burrell, Frederick G. Smith, Anthony J. Ruppert, Andrew N. McLuckie, Herbert Newlon, Andrew A. Ridgway, Samuel E. Snyder, Lester P. Dragons Win Interstate League Crown

Defeat Celanese 10 to 39 in the Deciding Game

Kemen Trail Throughout Contest; Sherman Is Leading Scorer

The Cumberland Dragons won the championship of the Interstate Baseball League here last night by defeating Celanese Local 1874 50 to 39 in the deciding game of the playoffs.

After dropping the first of the game series by three points, the Dragons led an about face, defeating the Silken 40 to 35 to even the series and then completely outplayed Celanese last night to take the league title.

Dragons Lead from Start
The Dragons lost little time in getting into a lead last night and were in front 11 to 6 at the end of the first quarter. They continued to outplay the Silken in the second quarter and were in front 24 to 16 at the half way mark.

There was no let down by the Dragons in the third period and they outscored Celanese 14 to 10 to give them a 38 to 24 lead at the end of the third quarter. Only in the fourth quarter was Celanese able to outscore the Dragons and then only by a 12 to 10 margin.

The new champions played like well-oiled machine last night and some exceptionally good shooting. They also rushed the Celanese players and as a result the Celanese players were in a constant state of confusion. In fact the shooting last night was about the poorest the season has seen.

Bell Paces Dragons
Bill, Dragon guard was the driving force with 16 points, followed by T. Rowan with 11 and Munniff with 10. For the Silken Snapper Morris was high scorer with 12 points while Munnicks next with nine.

In winning the championship the Dragons made 20 field goals and out of 16 fouls while the Silken made 16 field goals and 11 of 15 fouls.

These will close the season tonight by playing a return game at Pidsbury, Pa., where they will play the Philco. The team will be here at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The players leaving from the Silken Y.M.C.A. and the Cardinals.

Denies Cronin Tried To Acquire Gargantua

SARASOTA, Fla., March 21—Gargantua, the gorilla, over whom Gene Tunney scored a popular victory with his typewriter a couple of years ago, has been spending the winter in Sarasota, hard by the training camp of the Boston Red Sox. There is no truth in the report that Manager Joe Cronin attempted to sign Gargy as a pitcher. "Naturally," says Mr. Cronin, "pitching is my problem, and I cannot afford to overlook any bets. I did feel the Ringling people out for Gargantua. What I heard was not too promising, and I decided to string along with Lefty Grove instead."

"Gargantua is about to be married. However, this will not excuse him from the draft. He has money in the bank, and no children or other dependents. Like Rizzuto (but more like Greenberg), he would make good army material, and we cannot afford to gamble on him."

"Besides," says Mr. Cronin, "closing the discussion, I think Gargantua is overrated."

Tunney Gargy Short Count
Your correspondent carried these remarks to the winter headquarters of the circus, where Gargantua and his fiancée, Toto, have been passing the season in a constant whirl of social gaiety. Their spokesman, Mr. Frank Braden, scratched his head.

"Overrated, hey?" he said. "Well, if it ain't one guy, it's somebody else. First it was Tunney. You remember that episode, because it was you who first published Tunney's challenge to Gargy. He said that any third-rate heavyweight fighter could lick our big, lovable ape."

"As it turned out, Tunney, who once got a long count in Chicago, was giving Gargantua a short count in the matter of ribs. He thought gorillas had half as many ribs as they do have. He misread his encyclopedia Britannica. Sure, I know that Tunney is the sports editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica, but he must of got hold of an early edition when he read about the gorillas' ribs. Probably a two-star. They corrected that rib story in the later editions."

"It came as a great relief to Gargantua and all of us when Tunney turned his attention to Joe Louis, and started beating Louis on paper, instead of Gargy. That Tunney is one of the greatest murderers with a typewriter I ever heard of. He is always knocking out somebody, in an essay."

Now Joe Cronin comes along. He says that Gargy can't pitch. Well, Gargy never claimed he could pitch. We wouldn't sell him to the Red Sox anyway. How could we get waivers? But you can say for Gargy that if he can't pitch better than some of the alleged hurlers on the Boston payroll last year, he will gladly pay their fare back to the Three-Eye League, or wherever they are going."

M. Court's Sick Leopard
On his way out of the circus grounds, your correspondent encountered Monsieur Alfred Court, the fearless animal trainer. M. Court had just subdued a lion with a dirty look, and was telling a tiger to go back upstairs and wash behind its ears before dinner.

"Ca va?" said your agent, lapsing into the Gallic brogue.
"Pas mal," said Monsieur Court. "Where are you off to, my diseased cabbage?"

"I am going over to look at the pitchers of the Boston Red Sox," said your correspondent.
"What pitchers?" said M. Court. "Then you don't think—"

"I have here," said M. Court, "a sick leopard—but of the very sickest—who can pitch better ball without warming up than the best of these so-called Boston flingers. Naturally, I keep him under lock and key, so that this vile type of apache, Joe Cronin, will not kidnap him and put him in a Boston uniform. We have to be very careful. Name of a name of a name! Name of a dirty green pipe!" added the fearless trainer.

Personally, after glancing over Mr. Cronin's pitching staff, I don't think matters are as all that. The Red Sox are suffering from their reputation of last year, when any Boston pitcher who lasted more than five innings was in danger of being elected mayor. To complicate things, Mr. Cronin sold or traded half his pitchers as soon as the season was over. You can't blame the neighbors for being puzzled.

Mr. Cronin's theory is that the new pitchers cannot possibly be as bad as the old ones. Some of the spectators down here are not sure he is right. They've seen the new pitchers. We will take up this situation in our next breathless installment.

Hagerstown Signs Two More Players
HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 21 (AP)—Receipt of the signed contracts of two more members of the Hagerstown Inter-State League Baseball club was announced today by Manager Fred (Dutch) Dorman.

The players who returned signed agreements are Outfielder Charlie Reddick and Pitcher Roy Flannigan. Flannigan spent last season with the Wilmington, as a relief hurler. He appeared in nineteen games, winning four and losing six.

The Caged Tigers
TAMPA, Fla. — Detroit's Tigers, minus Hank Greenberg, will be about as pennant dangerous as a snarling Bengal with most of his claws removed and one or two fangs yanked from the moorings. Long Hank isn't in the Army yet, but he isn't far away, as far as I can find. Any number of star athletes have had feet that were flatter than a shaved plank. Also, there has been so much publicity on the subject at hand that few will believe that anyone could star on a big league ball club and still be unable to face the military duties that a bank clerk or a haberdashery salesman could handle.

When you realize that last year Greenberg hit 41 home runs, that he drove in 150 badly needed tallies, you can at least guess how much his absence would mean to his ball club.

No Wreckage
Even if Greenberg has to put on the khaki, there is no reason to expect any complete Tiger collapse. They still have Rudy York's big mace and they have a better conditioned Gehring than they had a year ago. In addition, both McNair and Bartell are ready at short.

Above all this, Del Baker will have a high-class pitching staff headed by Buck Newsom, plus Bridges, Corsica, Rowe, Newhouse, Geibell and several other younger arms that should annoy the enemy along the open road.

"They picked us to finish sixth last March," Del Baker tells you, "and they may pick us to finish fourth this season. But ball games are still won and lost on ball fields, not on copy paper."

Doubtful Spots
This is Dick Bartell's fourteenth season in the higher bracket. It is Gehring's eighteenth call to spring duty. McNair has been around for some time. So the Tiger infield outfit is still matted up with fog and mist.

Just how long some of their legs will hang on and just how well some of their aging backs will keep bending after June is something that at times may harass Del Baker's dreams.

Good pitching, fine spirit and a few lusty blows will cover up part of this deficit, but not all of it.

Bobo Buck Newsom
Bobo Buck Newsom, the burly pitcher from Hartselle, S. C., began facing the plate in 1928. At the time you could have joined the Marines to see the world, or else traveled with Buck. It's a tossup as to which covered more ground.

Buck's various teams and cities include Wilmington, Macon, Brookline, Jersey City, Little Rock, Chicago, Albany, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Washington, Boston and Detroit. His favorite poem begins—

"Whose furthest footstep never strayed
Beyond the village of his birth.
Is but a lodger for the night
In this old wayside inn of earth."

They figured Buck was all washed up nine years ago, but he reported to Los Angeles and won 30 games. A few years later Washington and Boston together, both needing pitchers badly at the time, shoved Buck off the pier. That was in 1937.

What was Buck's reply to that morbid action? Only this: in the next three years with St. Louis and Detroit he blew himself to a matter of 61 victories. When you can win 20 games with the likes of the Browns of 1938, without using a rifle, you can pitch.

Now High Up
Buck may have been a vagabond pitcher, a wandering outcast in 1937, but at the age of 32, when most pitchers are over the hill, Newsom was heading for the

Mize Hits Single in First Appearance in Game This Spring

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21 (AP)—With Johnny Mize contributing a pinch-hitting single in his first appearance of the spring, the St. Louis Cardinals gave the Boston Red Sox a ninth-inning scare today before dropping a 4 to 3 exhibition game.

Pete Fox hit a home run with Manager Joe Cronin on base in the second inning for Boston's most telling blow.

Indians Down Colonels
FT. MYERS, Fla., March 21 (AP)—After being held to five hits and one unearned run in the first eight innings, the Cleveland Indians rallied in the ninth today for four runs and a 5 to 4 triumph over the Louisville Colonels of the American Association.

Outfielder Roy Weatherly, making his first start of the "Grapefruit League" season, singled to drive in tying and winning runs after a base blows by Hal Trosky, Beau Bell and Ray Mack.

Browns Beat Millers
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 21 (AP)—Making it a day of double victory for the St. Louis Browns, Vernon Kennedy, Johnny Allen and Bob Harris collaborated in pitching a 2-hit 5-0 shutout against the Minneapolis Millers today in the second game of a twin bill.

The Browns reserves defeated the Randolph Field Ramblers, 8 to 4, in the first game.

Reds Down Birmingham
TAMPA, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Rushing over seven runs in the first inning, the Cincinnati Reds routed Birmingham, of the Southern Association 9-4 today before a slim crowd.

Junior Thompson and Witt Gulke hurled for the Red rookies and Johnny Riddle, the Red's new 34-year-old catcher, showed a better than average arm in handling the receiving.

Senators Whip Tigers
ORLANDO, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Dutch Leonard had his butterfly ball in mid-season form today and held Detroit to two singles over five innings as Washington defeated the American League champions 7 to 5.

All of Detroit's runs were scored off rookie Dean who pitched the first four innings. Four came in the second when Buddy Lewis misplaced Birdie Tebbett's grounder and Gersica singled after Dean had filled the bases by hitting Rudy York and walking two men.

Yanks Wallop Dodgers
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21 (AP)—The New York Yankees, looking like the "murders row" of their world championship days, blasted the Brooklyn Dodgers into a 7 to 0 defeat today.

All seven runs were scored by the home run route. Tommy Henrich hit two of them to account for two tallies. Charley Keller opened the shelling with a four-bagger with Red Rolfe on base in the first inning and Joe Gordon and Rolfe each hit homers with the bases empty.

Marvin Bruer and Spud Chandler handcuffed the Dodgers, each allowing three hits.

White Sox Trim A's
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 21 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox won a 6 to 4 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics today with three rookie pitchers limiting the Mackmen to seven hits.

Dean Baffles Pirates
LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—Dizzy Dean and Lou Nivkoff, the great mouthpieces of the Chicago Cubs, led the National Leaguers to a 7 to 4 exhibition victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

Dean started the game and pitched two-hit, scoreless ball for five innings. Nivkoff, the loquacious rookie outfielder, blasted a home run, double and single.

Wisconsin Rallies To Down Dartmouth
MADISON, Wis., March 21 (AP)—Wisconsin's Big Ten basketball Champions advanced to the final round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Eastern Case tournament tonight by coming from behind to defeat Dartmouth, 51 to 50, in a furiously-fought game before 11,500 spectators.

The Badgers, after taking an early two-point lead, found it difficult to penetrate the stalwart Eastern teams defense and began to fall behind. The Eastern club, benefiting largely by superb long range shots, led 24 to 22 at half time.

Frank A. Jaumot, Allegany Senior, Is Essay Winner

Will Receive $5 Award from VFW Auxiliary; Others Mentioned

Frank A. Jaumot, Jr., 17, 424 Walnut street, a senior at Allegany high school, yesterday was adjudged the local winner of the fourth annual essay contest sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of Henry Hart Post No. 141, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The decision was made by three judges, who agreed that Jaumot's composition, "One Nation Indivisible" was the outstanding one of twenty papers submitted to them by Mrs. Alice Miller, secretary of Henry Hart Post auxiliary and chairman of the local contest. Judges were the Rev. Vernon N. Ridgely, D. D., pastor of the Centre Street Methodist church; the Rev. Francis McKeown, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church; Rabbi Aaron H. Lefkowitz, of Beth Chayim Temple congregation; and William L. Geppert, editor of the Cumberland News.

An Active Student

Jaumot is regarded as one of Allegany's outstanding students. He represented his school in the recent county declamation contest, is a member of the debating team, plays the tuba in the band and orchestra, is a member of the glee club and French club and is a member of the cast in the "A. D. K." play, "Our Town," which will be presented Friday, March 28. His name has appeared on the honor roll continuously since he entered senior high school. Frank was born in Charleston, W. Va., and came to Cumberland when his parents moved here nine years ago.

Students of Fort Hill, Allegany and St. Mary's high schools and Ursuline Academy participated in the contest.

The composition of Walter Stimler, 17, of LaVale, also an Allegany student, was voted second best; Lorraine Burke, 18, of 900 Oldtown road, Fort Hill student, was third; and Margaret Connell, 17, of 945 Maryland avenue, who attends St. Mary's high school, was fourth.

Winner To Receive $5

Mrs. Miller stated last evening that Jaumot will receive a cash award of $5 for his winning essay, the lone prize offered in the local competition. The four local essays will be offered in the VFW State Department contest, which is scheduled to get under way about April 15. In the state contest, first and second place winners will receive silver medals and the No. 1 essay will be qualified for the nationwide competition in which prizes of $1,000, $500, $250 and $100 will be offered in addition to the ten $10 and ten $5 consolation awards.

Judges for the state contest are Judge William H. Lawrence, of Towson, Md.; A. J. Dalton, of the Veterans hospital, Fort Howard, Md.; and Senator Louis N. Phipps, of Annapolis.

King To Register Skilled Workers For Defense Setup

State Employment Service Interviewer Will Be in Flintstone Today

Robert M. King, interviewer of the Maryland State Employment Service, will be at Flintstone high school today from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of registering skilled workers as part of the national defense program.

Fred Z. Hetzel, manager of the local office of the employment service, announced yesterday that approximately seventy-five per cent of the 4,391 names on file in the public safety building here represent unskilled labor, and the chief object of the registration is to obtain the names of skilled workers in the rural area east of Cumberland who have experience and training that could be used in defense industries. The local office can refer workers to available job openings anywhere in the state or in other states, since it is in touch with all the state employment offices in the country.

Hetzel made it clear that persons who register will not immediately find jobs waiting for them, but the "present registration has been undertaken so that national defense officials may know how many and what kind of workers are available throughout the country for jobs or training in defense occupations, therefore, how to plan defense production.

This registration will serve two direct purposes. It will enable the employment service to reach unemployed workers as soon as there are jobs for them, and it makes it possible for defense industries and other enterprises in the country to get in touch with suitable workers when they need them.

Whether the rural worker can serve best on the farm or in an industrial job, he is requested to register with the State employment service so he can be notified of any job available which he can fill.

King will register skilled workers at the Oldtown school, Saturday, March 29, from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon.

ESSAY WINNER—Frank Jaumot, Allegany high school senior, yesterday was adjudged the winner of the fourth annual essay contest conducted here by Henry Hart Post No. 1470, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The subject of this year's contest was "One Nation Indivisible." Judges selected Jaumot's composition as the outstanding one among twenty from four local high schools. The winner will receive a cash prize of $5 and his essay will be entered in the state department contest of the VFW. (See this page for contest story. Text of winning composition appears on page fourteen.)

Various Classes Of Draftees Are Listed by Boards

Many Registrants Are Ignorant of Status in Each Class

Because many Selective Service registrants are apparently ignorant of the classification symbols used by draft boards in notifying them of their status, the News herewith presents a list of the various classes.

Class 1-A: Available men fit for general military service.

Class 1-B: Available men fit only for limited military service.

Class 1-C: Member of land or naval forces of the United States.

Class 1-D: Students fit for general military service, available not later than July 1, 1941.

Class 1-E: Students fit only for limited military service, available not later than July 1, 1941.

Class 2-A: Men necessary in their civilian activities.

Class 3-A: Men with dependents.

Class 4-A: Men who have completed service in the army or marine corps.

Class 4-B: Officials deferred by law.

Class 4-C: Undeclared aliens.

Class 4-D: Ministers of religion or divinity students.

Class 4-E: Conscientious objectors, available only for civilian work of national importance.

Class 4-F: Men physically, mentally or morally unfit.

To date, only men in Class 1-A are being taken for training, although students in Class 1-D are subject to reclassification to Class 1-A July 1.

Chaney Is Appointed Round House Foreman By Western Maryland

Appointment of Walter S. Chaney, of Baltimore, to the post of general round house foreman at Maryland Junction as successor to William L. McFarland, who retired last Saturday, was announced yesterday by the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Chaney, 33, learned his trade as machinist at the company's Baltimore shops and has been foreman there for the past eight years. He is married and his wife and two children are making their home in Baltimore at present.

Mac McFarland retired last week after having rounded out fifty-two years of service with four railroad companies. He was employed by the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh railway and its successor, the Western Maryland railway for forty-four years. McFarland was sixty-five years old at the time of retirement.

Contract Dispute In New Car Case Weighed by Judge

Terms of Agreement 'Fraudulently Altered,' Philip Barkman Says

Associate Judge William A. Huster yesterday took under advisement an equity suit brought in circuit court by Philip Barkman asking an order to compel McDowney Motors, Inc., of Johnstown, Pa., and the Automobile Banking Corporation to carry out the terms of a contract for the purchase of a 1940 Lincoln Zephyr sedan.

Barkman charges that the contract papers were "fraudulently altered" after he signed them, increasing the charges to which he was liable. This the defendants deny.

Testimony in the suit, which was filed last November, occupied more than five hours yesterday afternoon, continuing without interruption from 1:30 to 7 o'clock.

Trade-In Agreement

The plaintiff, represented by William H. Geppert, attorney, says that in October, 1940, he entered into an agreement with McDowney Motors, through Cecil Robinette, its agent, to purchase a Lincoln Zephyr, trading in a 1940 Mercury and receiving a credit for it of $1,021. Barkman, however, owed a balance of $732.82 on the Mercury to the Automobile Banking Corporation, he states.

The contract he signed, according to Barkman, called for him to make nineteen monthly payments of $45 to the Automobile Banking Corporation and five monthly payments of $45 to McDowney Motors, these last being payable at any time within twenty-four months. As

Out-of-State Car Owners Are Given Warning by Elgin

Thirty Day Law Explained; Conlon Gets Tags with Telephone Numbers

A warning that out-of-state auto license tags must be exchanged for Maryland tags within thirty days if the car owner remains in the state continually during that period, was issued yesterday by W. Lee Elgin, commissioner of motor vehicles.

"Between 15,000 and 20,000 out-of-state cars have been transferred to Maryland registry since January 1," Elgin reported, "but there are thousands of others here and more arriving daily whose owners are not familiar with the law or are not complying with it."

Top Fine Is $100

"The car owner who moves to Maryland or comes here for a lengthy stay is given thirty days in which to get a Maryland license. Failure to do so is punishable by fines ranging from $10 to $100 and costs," he added.

The motor vehicle commissioner pointed out that motorists who visit Maryland at regular intervals or who live outside the state and work in the state are permitted to operate over state roads for ninety days, not necessarily consecutive, before being required to get Maryland license tags.

Many of the aluminum and black auto tags for 1941 are appearing on Maryland cars. Motorists are permitted to use the 1940 tags until Monday, March 31.

In Case He Forgets

Thomas F. Conlon, finance commissioner for the City of Cumberland, is the recipient of automobile tags which contain his office, telephone and post office box number. The tags are numbered 472-807. Conlon's home telephone number is 472 while both his office telephone and post office box number is 807.

ADDITIONAL CHEST WORKERS ARE NAMED

Additional workers in the "Women's section of the Community Chest campaign which begins Monday, were announced yesterday by Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, chairman of the section.

Two new captains include Mrs. W. R. Rice and Mrs. H. T. Robinson.

New workers include Mrs. George Zuch, Miss Ida Stark, Mrs. Nellie Flick, Mrs. D. A. Smith, Miss Janet Little, Mrs. Julius Schindler, Mrs. Fred E. Powell, Mrs. Clarence Brotemarkle, Mrs. Harry C. Bursley, Mrs. Peter Smith, Mrs. R. V. Taylor, Miss Anne Frances Whiting, Mrs. Edgar A. Kendall, Mrs. Edgar D. Vandegrift, Mrs. A. C. Fisher, Mrs. J. Boyd Marston, Mrs. Noah B. Booth, Mrs. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Harold R. Rice, Mrs. Frederick Eyer and Mrs. William Sherman.

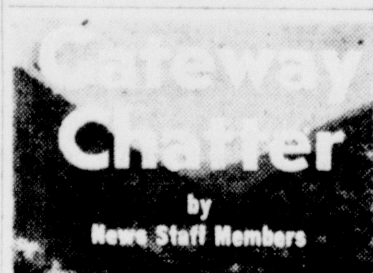

A new plan of solicitation in the residential area will be tried this year, according to Mrs. Rosenbaum. As usual the women will be in charge of the residential sections, but each team will be assigned a district and they will be restricted to work in that district, to save needless traveling from one part of the city to another.

Women workers will be given gold star stickers to be placed in windows of homes of subscribers. Each subscriber to the Chest will also receive small red flowers.

Viewpoints of Citizens and Officials Will Be Helpful, Delegates Say

A hearing on Senate Bill 301, relating to the salary advances for the police department of the City of Cumberland, has been granted by Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany county delegation in the House of Delegates, for Tuesday, March 25, about 2 p. m., according to an announcement made last night by Delegate Jonathan Sleeman.

Sleeman stated that within the past ten days the Allegany county delegation has received several hundred telegrams and other communications in reference to the bill.

"It is impossible for the delegation to reach individuals," stated Sleeman. "However, we want to take this opportunity to inform the people that we appreciate their interest in legislation pertaining to the City of Cumberland."

Vital to Taxpayers

"To my mind the bill involves nothing more than a matter of dollars and cents and consequently of vital importance to the taxpayers of Cumberland."

"Both firemen and policemen are paid from the city's funds, and in order to have all angles of the matter discussed I have asked Charles M. See, chairman of the county delegation, for a hearing, which request was granted."

"At that time the delegation will be glad to hear arguments on the bill and will then give the matter careful consideration."

Following Sleeman's announcement, See called the Cumberland News from Annapolis to state that as chairman of the delegation he will gladly grant the hearing to proponents and opponents of the bill, which he was certain would pass the Senate and reach the House by next Tuesday in time for the hearing. The bill was introduced in the Senate by Robert B. Kimble, of Allegany county.

See stated that the House and (Continued on Page 14, Col. 3)

Bill To Abolish Common Law Crimes in Labor Disputes Is Introduced

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 21 (AP)—A bill to abolish the common law crimes of riot, rout and unlawful assembly in any case involving a labor dispute was introduced in the House today by Delegates J. Milton Dick (R-Allegany) and Lester B. Reed (R-Allegany).

The measure would wipe out the old English common law which was invoked recently in a strike in Bethlehem Steel's Sparrow's Point plant.

Chatter readers will be interested in Bulletin No. 1902 of the National Coal Association, which was issued recently on safety. Probably readers of this column do not realize that eighty-eight persons are killed in the "home" each day and that 917 are injured but statistics show it is true.

"Speaking of safety," the Bulletin says, "keep these figures in mind—eighty-eight persons were killed in homes throughout the (Continued on Page 14, Col. 3)

Supplementary Training in Public Schools To Be Given NYA Employees

Purpose Is To Aid in Placing Youths in Private Jobs, Officials Say

Supplementary training will be given those employed on National Youth Administration projects by the public schools. It was announced yesterday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The program is planned and operated by the public schools but the cost is born by the NYA. The purpose is to bring about employment in private industry for the youths as soon as possible.

Classes will be conducted on alternate weeks so as to fit the project schedule of those registered. Those employed on NYA projects do not have to attend but are being urged to do so.

Commission is Praised for Help In Winter Program

Smith Lauds State Group for Keeping New Germany Road Open

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to Ezra Whitman, chairman, yesterday, praised the cooperation of the Maryland State Roads Commission for its part in keeping the road into New Germany from Route 40 open during the winter months to enable thousands to enjoy the outdoor sports program at the popular resort.

Smith stated that in reviewing sports in and around Cumberland and Garrett county the past winter much more interest was shown this year than in any previous winter.

"People attending skiing at New Germany in rather large numbers for a period at least six weeks, brought new money into this section of Maryland and helped revitalize sections of Allegany and Garrett counties which needed stimulation," wrote Smith.

"Had it not been for the excellent cooperation of the State Roads Commission in keeping the road into New Germany from Route 40, I am sure that attendance records obtained would have been materially reduced."

The chamber secretary concluded that purely as a matter of dollars and cents there is little doubt that the increased revenue from the tax will be a long way toward paying for the extra service that was provided by the commission and expressed thanks for the help given the program by the commission.

Retired Carpenter Dies after Illness Of Three Weeks

Emanuel Miller, 84, Succumbs at His Home on Baltimore Pike

Emanuel Miller, 84, retired carpenter, died yesterday morning at his home on Baltimore Pike, after an illness of three weeks.

A native of Bedford county, Pa., he was a son of the late Christian and Mary Smith Miller. He resided in this section for thirty-two years.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Christian church of Fairview, Pa.

Va., and Silas Miller, of Artemas, Pa.; four sisters, Mrs. Jonas Sparks, of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. Martha Clinegar, of Clearville, Pa.; Mrs. Savannah Frey, of Paw Paw, W. Va., and Mrs. Lucy E. Reith, of Cumberland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at the Christian church of Fairview, Pa.

Warnick Rites Held

A requiem mass for Ralph L. "Skiz" Warnick, 39, of 122 South Mechanic street, who died Tuesday, was conducted yesterday morning at St. Patrick's Catholic church by the Rev. Father Francis J. McKeown, assistant pastor. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Warnick, 122 South Mechanic street, by the Rev. Father Francis J. McKeown, assistant pastor. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

David Young Dies

David Young, 63, brother of Mrs. Pearl Painter in this city, died last Sunday in Kearney, Pa.

Interment was made in Hopewell cemetery at Kearney.

Mrs. Bryan Succumbs

Mrs. Jessie L. Bryan, negro, widow of John L. Bryan, died yesterday at her home, 301 Wallace street.

Surviving are two brothers, Albert Banks, of Fairmont, W. Va., and Deneen Banks, of Cumberland, and a sister, Mrs. Hazel Peck, this city.

Plans Are Completed For Holy-Week Noon-Day Services

The Cumberland Ministerial Association has completed plans for Holy Week noonday services to be held in Central Methodist church, South George street.

Those participating are as follows:

Monday, April 7—the Rev. A. H. Robinson, leader, and the Rev. H. A. Keister, speaker; Tuesday—the Rev. L. B. Henley, leader, and the Rev. Vernon N. Ridgely, speaker; Wednesday—the Rev. W. R. Keefe, Jr., leader, and the Rev. W. J. Lloyd, speaker; Thursday—the Rev. C. E. Miller, leader, and the Rev. E. S. Price, speaker; Friday—Brigadier B. L. Philipson, leader, and the Rev. A. L. Creager, speaker.

The meetings will begin promptly at 12:20 p. m. and close at 12:50 o'clock.

Two Marriage Licenses Issued

Norbert Gustave Bayster, Pittsburgh, Pa., Amelia Douglas Hill, Charleston, W. Va. Harold Michael Gerbracht and Colette Ida Slayton, Erie, Pa.

TO LECTURE HERE—Dr. J. Owen Perrine, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone Telegraph Company, will give a demonstration-lecture entitled "The Artificial Creation of Speech" with the aid of the Voder (voice operation demonstrator) at Fort Hill high school Wednesday, April 2, at 1, 2:30 and 8:30 p. m. Local high school students will attend the afternoon lecture while the general public is invited at night. The lecture is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Scouters Will Have Outing at Barton Farm

Scout Leaders and Men Interested in Boy's Work To Attend

Any boy scout leader or men interested have been invited to attend the outing of Cumberland District scouts at the Barton farm near Cresaptown, this afternoon. It was announced yesterday by Ray C. Lator, scout executive of Potomac County.

The commissioner staff comprising James Thaxter, Edgar Duke, Henry Shriver III, and Lator have already volunteered their cars to help provide transportation for any men who need it. Additional cars will be rounded up should they be needed.

Those needing transportation are advised to meet at the Central YMCA in time to leave at 1:30 p. m. These arrangements were made at a recent meeting of the commissioner staff at scout headquarters here.

The staff also discussed how to make the Easter Egg hunt, scheduled Saturday, April 12, a success. The hunt will begin at 2 p. m. and will be staged in Constitution park. Scouts will report at 1 p. m., with their eggs and distribute them throughout the area to be set aside.

Scout leaders plan to have at least 1,000 eggs and every troop of scouts in the district will boil the eggs at home and bring them to their troop meeting halls at the meeting just prior to April 12, and have an enjoyable project decorating them. The Easter Egg hunt will be for the children of the Salvation Army.

Any citizen desiring to have a part in the egg hunt may contribute eggs to any boy scout with whom he is acquainted.

Powwow Is Planned

Cumberland district scouts also have agreed to serve as hosts to any other scouts in the Potomac council at their powwow scheduled for April 15. At this time John Triplett, of national headquarters, is coming to Cumberland to discuss with the scout leaders matters pertaining to troop financing.

Boy Scout leaders believe the funds should be taught to handle funds systematically and meet incidental obligations themselves. The sum may be small, usually less than five cent per week, but even these small sums are to be disbursed systematically. Consequently, there has been developed what is known as the Troop Budget Plan. Triplett is the national leader who explains this budget plan and administers it nationally.

In addition to having Triplett as a special feature, the Cumberland leaders are planning to make the visit of other scouts pleasant and to provide good fellowship.

These arrangements will be further developed during a discussion which is to be part of the outing today.

McElfish Returns Home

W. C. McElfish, 58, of Nave's Cross-road, was discharged Thursday afternoon from Allegany hospital where he was taken after suffering a heart attack at Baltimore and George streets.

Officers J. W. Smallwood and J. H. Stutcher took him to the hospital.

Local Draft Board No. 3 Will Send Men from Here On April 16 and 19

Two days, April 16 and 19 have been chosen by State Selective Service headquarters as the days on which Local Draft Board No. 3 will send men to the induction station in Baltimore. No colored men were included in either quota.

Twenty-five men will be sent on April 16 while twenty-four will go on April 19.

Of the 1,120 men called for the period between April 11-19, Baltimore city will furnish 537 and the counties 583 men.

Board No. 3 is compiling a list of draftees who will be sent to Baltimore to be inducted on the two days.

Debating Teams Selected By Two Local Schools

Allegany and Fort Hill Each Name Eight for County Test April 4

Allegany and Fort Hill high schools yesterday announced the personnel of their affirmative and negative teams for the Annual Spring Debate for Allegany county public high schools which will be conducted Friday, April 4.

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill high school announced that members of the Fort Hill affirmative team will be host to the negative team of Bruce high school, Westernport, while the Fort Hill negative team will visit Bruce.

Fort Hill's affirmative debaters are Rita Brinker, Paul Maphis, George Dayton and Anna Avers, alternate. Members of the negative team are Lorraine Brechbell, Harmon Wislmyer, Arnold Robertson and Charles Patterson, alternate.

Miss Murphy Is Coach

Miss Mary I. Murphy, coach of the Allegany high school debating teams, announced that the Blue and White affirmative team will play host to Beall high school, of Frostburg, while the Allegany negative group will oppose Barton's affirmative team at the latter place.

Walter Stimler, Frank Jaumot, Mary Sullivan and Mary Lou Barton comprise the personnel of the Allegany affirmative team while the negative group consists of Milton Shaffer, Homer Brill, William Green and Richard Schwab, alternate.

Six county high schools, namely, Allegany, Fort Hill, Beall, Bruce, Barton and Central, of Lonaconing, will enter teams to debate on the question:

"Resolved, that the recent trend toward increase in power of the Federal government is inimical to the general welfare of the people of the United States."

Dating back to 1920, the debate has been an annual feature in the public high schools of the county.

To Award Gold Medals

A total of twelve gold medals are awarded annually by the Allegany County Board of Education to the outstanding affirmative and negative speaker of each of the six schools and the school winning both sides of the argument in the finals will receive a banner similar to the Tasker G. Lowmides declamation contest banner, which must be won three years in succession to become a permanent possession.

Fort Hill high school captured the banner last year while Allegany won in 1939. Allegany, Central and Bruce have won banners by capturing honors three years in a row.

Preliminary contests between the affirmative and negative teams of each school are scheduled for Friday, March 28, to give the debaters experience for the finals the following week. Allegany's preliminary test has been set back to Monday, March 31, because of the school play being scheduled March 28.

Artistic Concert Is Presented by Fort Hill Band

Several Martial Airs Are Timely and Well Received by Audience

The annual band concert given by the Fort Hill high school band was heard by 300 persons last night in the school auditorium.

An enjoyable program of eleven
